SFO NAMED BEST AIRPORT IN AMERICA FOR BUSINESS TRAVELERS

SAN FRANCISCO -- Newsweek Budget Travel has named San Francisco International Airport the Best Airport in the United States for business travelers.

Describing SFO as “clean, efficient, manageable, high-tech and well-run,” the on-line MSNBC article highlights such Airport amenities as a thorough Wi-Fi system, “savory and eclectic cuisine” and the Henry Berman Reflection Center.

“We are constantly seeking ways to improve the passenger experience at SFO,” says Airport Director John L. Martin. “With superior facilities, some of the lowest fares of any airport in the Bay Area, ample parking and public transportation, and efficient baggage and passenger screening systems, we can continue to be the Airport of Choice for the Bay Area.”

The article, available on-line at www.msnbc.msn.com/id/4799222/, lists the Top 10 U.S. airports in the following order:

- San Francisco International
- Portland International
- Dallas/Fort Worth International
- Salt Lake City International
- Tampa International
- Minneapolis-St. Paul International
- O’Hare International (Chicago)
- McCarran International (Las Vegas)
- Seattle-Tacoma International
- Newark Liberty International
